

Przerzut raka jasnokomórkowego nerki do części ustnej gardła

A case of renal clear cell carcinoma metastasis to the oropharynx

Ramzes Stańczyk, Aleksandra Omulecki, Anna Pajor

Summary

A rare case of 61-yrs-old male was reported, in whom distant metastasis from renal clear-cell carcinoma to the oropharynx had been diagnosed. It was presented as pedunculated tumor at the level of palatine tonsil, 11 months after nephrectomy, and treated by surgical excision. Other metastatic sites - pulmonary and skeletal had also developed and a patient died 16 months after the time of primary diagnosis.